II. Webinar: Women scientists around the world – Strategies for gender equality

To mark the International Day of Women and Girls in Science, this webinar will present findings from a pilot study on the underrepresentation of women in scientific organizations. Conducted in collaboration with the Standing Committee for Gender Equality in Science (SCGES), the study is based on qualitative interviews with ten women scientists from diverse disciplines and regions. It examines the systemic and individual factors influencing women's participation and success in these organizations.

The webinar will highlight key findings, including institutional biases, gender stereotypes, and the strategies women scientists employ to navigate these challenges. Four of the interviewed scientists will share their experiences, discuss the obstacles they have encountered, and outline their efforts to foster inclusivity and gender equality in their fields.

Place: Online

III. Navigating Horizon Europe's Global Opportunities webinar series

The Lithuanian RDI Liaison Office in Brussels (LINO), the NCBR Office in Brussels – Business & Science Poland, the Slovenian Business & Research Association, Eötvös Loránd University, and Corvinus University of Budapest are pleased to invite you to a series of virtual webinars on Navigating Horizon Europe's Global Opportunities.

The European Commission now recognizes Canada and the Republic of Korea as associated country partners to Horizon Europe Pillar II and welcomes their researchers and organizations to participate in 2025 project calls onwards. The third part of the series is dedicated to the collaboration with African partners. The Africa Charter, co-created by Africa's major higher education constituencies, is an Africa-centred framework for advancing a transformative mode of research collaborations that will serve to uphold the continent's place in- and foster a more equitable- global system of scientific knowledge production.

Researchers and institutions will have numerous opportunities to engage in joint research projects that leverage shared strengths and expertise. Participants will gain valuable insights into the funding mechanisms available through Horizon Europe, including resources to support innovative research initiatives. The webinars will also feature engaging Q&A sessions.
